LITERATURE- Beehive Topic:Unit.8.2.On Killing a Tree Chapter Description- This poem paints a vivid and brutal picture of what is involved in killing a tree. This poem highlights a lot of morals. Firstly, it displays the destructive nature of humans. Secondly, it shows that Mother Nature is inevitable and cannot be easily destroyed. Thirdly, the tree is a symbol of mankind. It says that human life is not so easy to end. If we cut the fingers or the skin, then we do not die. It is the heart that should be cut-out. This is the main theme of the poem. The tree grows by absorbing years of sunlight, air and water and it cannot die by merely hacking and chopping at it as its source of strength lies in the roots. On a figurative level, the poem may also mean that to kill a tree or anything else e.g. a bad habit, it must be destroyed at the heart. For human beings, injuries and amputation does not cause death, but if the heart stops functioning, there is no chance of survival as the heart provides the life blood and is their source of existence.
